Vice President – Planning, Research & Organizational Development

- The implementation of the Common Assessment Initiative, Educational Planning Initiative, and Online Education Initiative are all on track. All three grants now have active steering committees and are in the process of selecting colleges to pilot the technology offerings. Butte College is considering applying to be a pilot for the Common Assessment and Online Education Initiatives. Statewide Program managers have been hired for each grant and project managers were recently selected and will begin work after the Board approves their hiring. Surveys to colleges are underway to help develop requirements and the Technology Center is reviewing similar initiatives in other states to inform these efforts.

- The second drafts of the accreditation self-study are now complete. These drafts are being reviewed by the Accreditation Support Teams and the resource personnel assigned to each standard. The “one-voice editing” process will occur over the summer to ensure that there is consistency in the document. Evidence is also being put into a consistent format. The document will then be reviewed by the standard teams in fall to fold in the results of the Community College Survey of Student Engagement and to review the results of “one-voice editing.” After that the document will go to constituent groups for approval before going to the Board for final approval in late fall.
